Death And Rioting Seen In Coal strike In Hungary; About 27,000 Are Idle In U. S. Labor Disputes

—Hungary, Feb. 24.—

Two demonstrators shot and killed and six, including two women, wounded in a clash with police in the mine where 267 miners were entrenched.

One hundred men and women engaged in the demonstration stoned police and tried to clear the way through the mine.

Director Schick, who said he believed the demonstrators were Communist sympathizers, said the demonstration occurred after the strikers returned unopened a letter to them by the management.

The men will stay down the mine through Thursday, said Schick. "Everything is so closed possible to drop food to them," he said. "The government has launched an operation of the troubles."

Police Chief Charles Dice and two detectives personally served copies of the ultimatum upon the strikers, telling them they were "illegally trespassing."

"You are further notified to get off this property immediately," the order said over Dice's signature.

Asked what he would do if the strikers ignored the order, Dice said: "I will take it up with the powers that be and if they want me to use force, I will do it."

He did not identify the "powers." The ultimatum was served after Douglas officials declined to participate in a peace conference which Director Towne Nylander of the Federal Regional Labor Board attempted to arrange and had demanded that peace authorities evacuate the plant of strikers.

President Donald Douglas of the company rejected the Nylander conference with the statement:

"We will hold no meeting with Dr. Nylander as long as our plant is illegally occupied." He said he had demanded at a conference with District Attorney Byron Fitts and Santa Monica authorities that strikers be ousted from the factory.

Deferring action, Fitts called another conference for tomorrow. Police Chief Charles Dice of Santa Monica said he would make no move before that meeting.

"We will use every legal means except violence to clear the factory of strikers," said T. C. McMahon, treasurer of the company, who reported he had appealed to unnamed federal authorities in Washington.

Undetermined hundreds of the 5,000 Douglas employees remained in the plant in defiance of a trespass warning from company executives asking them to leave. The company estimated 200 strikers were in the factory. Strike leaders said 600.

C. R. Anderson, chairman of the strike board of strategy, and Andrew Schmolzer, board member and organizer for the United Automobile Workers, which has an aircraft division local at the plant, said 1,000 employees had signed union membership cards since the sit down was called yesterday.

Schmolzer said the union had 3,500 employees enrolled, including many whom he said had dropped out of the Douglas Employees Association.

In a new statement of objectives he and Anderson said the union is demanding reinstatement of three discharged men, a flat increase of 15 cents an hour for workers, recognition of the union, time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays.

Company officials have reported pay in the plant ranges from 40 cents to $1.10 an hour, but Schmolzer declared the basic scale is 32½ cents, and said the average top wage is 85 cents.

SERVE ORDER ON SIT-DOWNERS AT AIRCRAFT PLANT

Sheriff Says He Will

ers" Desire

Strikers Ignore Eviction Notice at Santa Monica

Santa Monica, Calif., Feb. 24.—(P)—Police by written notice ordered sit-down strikers out of the Douglas Aircraft Corp. plant late today and said force will be used to remove them if "the powers that be" so desire.

Police Chief Charles Dice and two detectives personally served copies of the ultimatum upon the strikers, telling them they were "illegally trespassing."

"You are further notified to get off this property immediately," the order said over Dice's signature.

(By The Associated Press.)

Demands for higher pay and union recognition sent hundreds of recruits into the ranks of the nation's strikers yesterday.

Approximately 27,000 persons were idle in labor disputes at more than 50 industrial and business firms scattered from New England to the Pacific coast.

Production was curtailed or halted in textile and paper mills; cigar and auto parts factories; laundries, ship yards, steel and iron foundries; and a huge airplane plant.

In a dozen centers the employees participated in "sit down" demonstrations. Commenting on this strategy, Secretary of Commerce Roper declared:

"Any sit down strike that undertakes to take over private property is a serious and fundamental thing and in my opinion would not be long endured by the courts."

He spoke after Connecticut state police removed 107 of these squatters from the property of the Electric Boat Company, builders of submarines for the government at Groton, Union leaders, protesting the use of officers as "illegal and unwarranted," formed a picket line.

The first actual eviction of sedentary strikers had a peaceful sequel at Decatur, Ill. There Sheriff Emory Thorne led 25 deputies and policemen to the Century Wallpaper Mills to oust 47 men who had held the plant for two days in defiance of a court order. But the strikers surrendered the plant and appeared in circuit court in contempt citations. They were released on their own recognizance, pending a hearing March 18. The company, employing 300 persons, announced production would be resumed.

Several hundred "sit downers" ignored the management's request to leave the Douglas Aircraft Company's plant and "avoid trouble" at Santa Monica, Calif. The concern's $24,000,000 construction program—including $19,000,000 in federal contracts—was at a standstill and 5,600 workers were jobless.

Nine hundred persons were thrown out of work at the Illinois Watch Case Company at Elgin when 600 members of the Jewelry Workers Union sought recognition and a minimum pay scale. The plant was patrolled by the strikers in a test of the "efficacy of a legal picket strike."

Organizer Harry P. Gill of the American Federation of Labor asserted: "This is a legal strike. The sit-down strike has been held illegal by several courts."

Union leaders said approximately 1,800 were on strike in Massachusetts shoe industry. Demands for a 15 per cent pay hike by the United Shoe and Leather Workers Union were met by more than a score of manufacturers to avoid walkouts.

The United Automobile Workers of America asked a national collective bargaining conference with Chrysler Corporation officials. President Walter P. Chrysler referred their request to company executives in Detroit.

Next Wednesday was tentatively set at a date for the first parity. The union claimed to represent a majority of employees. These total 77,000, including 50,000 hourly production hands.

The union—its announced objective the winning of bargaining pacts from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—sponsored the recent strikes in General Motors plants.

Six strikes in the Detroit area were settled—five of them by wage increases—concessions—but a dozen other factories were held by strikers or closed because of controversies.

Washington, Feb. 24.—(P)—Senator Borah (R-Ia.) jumped today into the fight to block renewal of the reciprocal trade program, charging on the senate floor that "the burden of these reciprocal trade agreements falls on agriculture."

He denied the contentions of Democratic defenders of the program that it has resulted in improved markets for American agriculture through increased foreign purchasing power. Reciprocity of farm tariffs has forced American farmers to compete with foreign producers, he argued.

Earlier Senator Austin (R-Vt.) attacked the trade act as a measure "centralizing governmental functions in the hands of the executive." He said it was the duty of Congress to fix taxes and ratify treaties but that this power had been handed to the president.

Methodist Pensions

Chicago, Feb. 24.—(P)—Increased income for the Methodist Episcopal church ministers' pension and relief fund during 1936 was reported today to the annual meeting of pension fund directors.

The Rev. Thomas A. Stafford, treasurer, announced the income was $2,352,609, an increase of $39,000 over 1935, and that pension aid went to 8,783 persons including 1,000 widows and minor children. The fund's income from ministers' and contributions.

MRS. GARNER
Washington, Feb. 24.—(P)—Vice President Garner said today that Mrs. Garner is recovering from a severe attack of indigestion.
"She suffered the attack yesterday—the second one in her whole life—and is still pretty sick but she is getting along all right today," Garner said. "She ought to be out and about again in three or four days."
Dr. George Calver, capitol physician, ordered Mrs. Garner to remain in her apartment several days.

Union officials said no plans had been made for conferring with the management, declaring:
"The next move is up to the company."
On the other hand, O. P. Robinson, plant manager, asserted the union would not be approached although he expressed a willingness to talk with their officials if they come to him.
There was wide disagreement between the union and the company regarding the effectiveness of the strike which began yesterday.

A New Kind of Court

When members of the legal profession disagree, we think nothing about it. But when a vast majority of lawyers agree on a matter, it is time for the rest of us to sit up and take notice. Such unanimity must mean that the facts in the case are so apparent, so clean-cut and decisive, that persons who give them careful study cannot go wrong in arriving at a conclusion.

The Illinois Bar Association has announced that its members are voting five to one against President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization program in a statewide referendum.

What does this mean? Simply, that most lawyers of Illinois, men with analytical minds, men who earn their livelihood by studying and weighing facts, and untangling intricate puzzles, believe that the President's proposal is a losing proposition.

They believe that it is weak in structure; that it possesses loopholes; that it is dangerous, undesirable and should be defeated.

These men who have made a life study of law and government are against it. Not half of them are against it, but five out of every six.

President Cairo A. Trimble of Princeton, Ill., said that more than one-half of the association's bar members had participated in the referendum, the tabulation being 2,062 against and 377 for the Presidential bill.

Chicago members voted 1,323 to 270 against the reorganization plan. The roster of the Illinois Bar Association constitutes an excellent court. It's opinion has been handed down, overwhelmingly, against the proposal to tamper with the United States supreme court.

What could be a fairer trial than to submit the issue to the judgment of several thousand Illinois baristers? We view their poll as vitally important in this argument that is rocking the nation. The Illinois attorneys have rendered an opinion that we believe was based on the true merits of the case.

In the meanwhile, the public has been doing its own thinking. The average citizen, too, has a fairly good knowledge of the salient points of law. He respects the wisdom and experience of the great men who have written chapters into our book of government. He is prone to fall for experiments that from the outset appear impractical and dangerous.

The court of public opinion concurs with the Illinois bar members in their decision. The proposal to overhaul the supreme court should be dismissed for lack of evidence that such procedure is meritorious, or is needed.

Up To The Parties

A large field of candidates entered the Jacksonville municipal primaries Tuesday largely "on their own hook." The majority of the candidates had personal followings, but support in both parties was split up among more than two dozen aspirants.

The election on Tuesday, April 20, will be a different proposition. It will develop pretty much into a straight-out battle between the parties.

Fletcher J. Blackburn, Republican, and Herbert H. Vasconcellos, Democrat, the nominees for mayor, both stand well with their parties. Both have been in public life, so that they are well known to all citizens.

Both have records of public service that can be commended. Both men are honorable citizens with experience in executive positions.

The primaries were largely a matter of personal contact with the voters, party chieftains remaining on the sidelines until the candidates demonstrated their strength. Now that the trial heat is over, the party banners will be hoisted and all hands will set to work to elect their candidates.

Jacksonville from now until April 20 is promised some interesting political adventures. Candidates in the major parties are no longer "on their own"—they have the assistance and resources of their political parties at their command.

Voting Machines

We note that the New Berlin Women's club civic committee is sponsoring a meeting next month, when a voting machine will be demonstrated. Whether the demonstration is to be for the purpose of mere instruction, or whether a sales representative is endeavoring to interest New Berlin voters in acquiring such a device, we do not know. But it is doubtful if a township the size of New Berlin, or even the larger precincts in Jacksonville, require the services of a mechanical contraption to do their voting at this time.

The voting machine developed from two needs—a fool-proof method of tabulating votes, where dishonesty was likely to creep into the procedure, and to speed up the routine of voting. In large population centers where election officials know few of the citizens who vote, and where several thousand ballots are cast within a few hours' time, voting machines are alright. In smaller communities it would seem that the expense of their purchase would be useless and extravagant.

Honesty among judges and clerks is the first and most important requisite to fair elections. The officials are sworn to follow the election laws. That is usually all that is required in this section of Illinois to insure a fair election.

Voting machines, we imagine, would be rather unpopular with voters in this community. Many men and women wouldn't know how to make the "danged things" work. As a result, quite a few persons might choose to remain away from the polls, rather than to subject themselves to comment if they didn't manipulate the apparatus properly.

Many persons have a horror of dial telephones. They don't know how they work, and rather than to admit ignorance of the technique, stay away from them.

Others wouldn't know how to operate a cash register if they were told a cash gift were on the inside. The plungers, buttons, dials and other trappings, are a mystery to many.

Therefore, a voting machine would not be welcomed in many communities. It actually would hurt business.

What Is The Limit?

Proposals have been made in the Illinois legislature during the last three years that a constitutional amendment be passed setting a tax limit of one percent on property in this state. The proposition got no where up to date, but it will probably recur during the present session. It arose out of the depression psychology. Fixing such a limit would result in serious handicap for most of the taxing bodies of the state.

That curtailment of taxation is vital and necessary cannot be disputed. But to set an arbitrary limit is to ignore the realities of the taxation problems in relation to public spending.

A tax research staff at Columbia university has been making a non-partisan investigation on the question: What is the limit of the American people to pay taxes? The commission's conclusion is that it all depends on how the government spends the money collected. For some purposes, the tax limit is already at hand, or passed. For others, the taxing capacity is yet to be reached.

The limit to taxable capacity will be near, the commission concludes, "if the revenues are spent in such a way that nothing is ever added to the flow of consumers' goods and services. The nation's production is then decreased, and hence the income from which the tax revenues flow. The process cannot be carried far without starting to dry up some of the sources of revenue."

The "unproductive expenditure" to which the commission refers "occurs when the government requisitions property for destruction, or pays to have productive factors held idle."

Another example given by the specialists was "the use of tax revenues to support certain groups of people who themselves contribute nothing." They include incompetent government employees, overstaffed departments or certain unemployed persons.

Approach to the taxable limit should induce more intensive study of the entire question.

A Great Editor

By virtue of honesty, intelligence and insight, Rollo Ogden, editor of the New York Times, who died Monday, had become a distinguished figure in American journalism. His training was under the great E. L. Godkin, who edited the New York Evening Post when it was the organ of American intellectuals, and three years after Godkin's retirement he succeeded to the editorship and carried on the Godkin traditions.

It was fortunate that when the Evening Post changed its character Mr. Ogden was able to enter the service of another great newspaper and become editor of the New York Times. There he maintained the high standards of his predecessor, Charles R. Miller, and continued to make its editorial page the intelligent exponent of a liberal and tolerant conservatism.

Throughout a long and active life Rollo Ogden was an honor to his profession, a servant of the public good.

First Signs of Measles Resemble Early Symptoms of Severe Cold

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Eleven to fourteen days usually elapse between the time when a child is exposed to measles and when it actually comes down with the disease. Seldom is the incubation as short as three days. There are cases on record, however, in which it seems to have been as long as eighteen to twenty days.

The disease is highly contagious when the patient begins coughing and sneezing, which may occur before appearance of the eruption. At a party in which thirteen little girls were present, twelve caught measles. The one who escaped had already had the disease. The eruption did not break out on the one responsible for the spread of the disease until the day after the party. The other children became ill eleven to twelve days afterward.

As a child begins to come down with measles, he has, first of all, the symptoms of a severe cold, including moistening of the eyes, sensitivity to light, sneezing, and discharges from the nose. There may be a hoarse, hard cough and some soreness of the throat.

Inflammation of the eyes is a condition peculiar to measles. Another is the appearance of little white spots on the mucous membranes of the cheeks and lips, and on the palate. These little bluish white spots are surrounded by reddish areas of inflammation, and are commonly called Koplik spots, after the physician who described them.

Three or four days after running nose and slight fever appear, a rash breaks out on the face, mouth, and chin, and then spreads over the trunk, arms, thighs, and legs. The victim is likely to be sicker while the rash is coming out than at any other stage of the disease. He may also have lack of appetite, coated tongue, some looseness of the bowels, and similar disturbances.

The secondary complications which affect the lungs are far more serious than measles itself, and every possible attempt must be made to guard against such complications. Practically all deaths from measles are due to complications.

When a child has measles he should be placed alone in a room and other children should not be permitted to come in contact with him. In this regard, parents owe an absolute duty to the children of their neighbors and friends.

Whenever a case of measles appears in a school, parents of other children should be warned of the occurrence and advised to be on the lookout for symptoms of measles in their own children. This is one of the most important steps in the prevention of this disease.

Eben Todd was noted for never doing anything "in a splutter," as he called it. He hung on to his serenity and poise in the most exciting emergency. When the house of a neighbor caught fire and burned to the ground Eben was the last man to arrive on the scene. When asked why he had not come sooner Eben replied:

"Well, I never like to do things in a splutter. I prefer to keep calm. I was plowing over in my west field when I first saw the smoke rolling up from the roof, but I never leave an implement in the middle of the field, so I plowed on to the end of the row. Then by the time I drove home, I had reached the team, and fed them. Then I hitched up a horse to the buggy the fire was under full headway. Too bad."

Cheerfulness is what greases the axle and makes the world go around. Are you contributing your share, or are you slipping sand into the gears by your dissatisfaction and grouching?

Petefish Store at Literberry Robbed Of Food, Tobacco

Post Office in Building is Unmolested; Loot Near $50, is Report

Sheriff Kenneth Woods, Deputy Sheriff Wray F. Cook, and Sergeant George Vasconcellos of the police department yesterday investigated the robbery of the Wilma Petefish store at Literberry, which took place some time Tuesday night or early Wednesday. Thieves obtained loot estimated at about $50.

Sergeant Vasconcellos obtained several pictures of what may have been finger prints and is making further investigations along this line.

The thieves broke into the store by prying open the front door with a small tool, Deputy Cook said after returning from Literberry. None of the residents of the community reported seeing anything suspicious, he said.

The loot consisted of about $20 worth of tobacco, mostly cigarettes, and canned tobacco, a 175-pound bag of sugar, and a large amount of canned goods, consisting of peaches, peas, tomatoes, butter, eggs, bologna, steak, and four pocket knives.

The village post office located in the same building, was not molested. The proprietor of the store told officers that after locking the store Tuesday, she remembered that she had left about $50 in the store and returned to the store and obtained it. She discovered the robbery when she opened the store yesterday about 7 o'clock.

Hieronimus BROS.—SOUTH SANDY ST. PHONE 1729

ON THE EDITORIAL DESK

Journal and Courier, Gentlemen: I have just read with pleasure your editorial on "History of Jacksonville" in your issue of Feb. 17, and wish to thank you for it.

For now over 50 years I have consistently and personally urged that "Education"—the colleges, MacMurray, Illinois and the other schools have been Jacksonville's richest assets.

No local institutions attract more outside gifts than do the colleges. And it is known everywhere that the colleges are appreciated by the local community, and heartily supported locally. These outside gifts will increase and will be kept up. For attractive outside gifts, the hospitals come second, but even at that, they attract much less than do the colleges. The fine administration of the public schools under Dr. Stoops is also a great asset to the city.

It is therefore a great pleasure to see that the business men and organizations are issuing special "stickers" to be used by everybody on their outgoing letters calling attention to the colleges. It is hoped that tens of thousands of such stickers will be sent out, and that it will be kept up for many years.

I have often said that for every dollar given by the City of Jacksonville for the advancement of its colleges, five or six dollars could be secured from outside funds. I think I demonstrated that for several years—and I believe it could still be kept up by persistent and favorable city publicity, of the high standards and unexcelled opportunities offered by the colleges to inquiring and aspiring youth.

By such united and general cooperation, Jacksonville could have before long hundreds of additional students in its colleges, and constant and increasing gifts for their better equipment and endowment. And what could more advance the business interests of the city than such an annual influx of selected young people from all over the nation?

So, let this good work go on. Keep saying to the whole country: "Send your best students to Jacksonville—Our colleges will send them back better prepared for service and better men and women than when they came."

Sincerely,
DR. JOSEPH R. HARKER,

PACED TO BE OUT IN FRONT
but priced with the sixes!

You drive a big bargain when you pilot this stunning Buick SPECIAL down the road! It's a real six-in-head straight-eight—priced only slightly higher than the average six outside the lowest price field.

CARWISE you're out in front when you take your comfortable place behind this Buick SPECIAL's wheel—under its bonnet is not merely an eight, but an oil-cushioned valve-in-head straight-eight, which means the absest of them all!

It will show fleet heels to any highway challenger except another Buick—yet the unbelievable thing is not this gorgeous car's performance, but its price. Big, handsome, smartly styled as it is, it costs close to the sixes that it so easily out-performs.

This four-door sedan pictured here actually costs less delivered, than some cars with two fewer cylinders and less efficient engine design.

Even when you average all the sixes outside of the lowest price field, you find little more than a dollar-a-week difference the first year and after that it's velvet.

Count just the mechanical differences—torque-tube drive, valve-in-head engine design, double-end stabilization, Acrobat carburetion, a whole carful of such features—and that dollar-plus added each week to the easy payments begins to pale into no burden at all.

Just get in a Buick—give yourself over to a real thrill for ten or fifteen minutes—you'll forget about price entirely! You can afford it—because it's priced down with the sixes, so why be content with any lesser car?

*LOWEST PRICE EVER ON A BUICK 4-DOOR SEDAN!

Today's price for a Buick 4-door sedan is the lowest in all Buick history—and you get longer wheelbase—greater power—valve-in-head thrust—straight-eight smoothness—roomier body—safety glass all around—bigger luggage compartment—and immeasurably greater performance, comfort and style! See your dealer for low delivered prices, and see what a big Buick really is, compared to the average six outside the lowest price field.

The DOCTOR says: Do This When You Have a HEADACHE

All human impulses center in the brain. So, too, do many ailments affect that source of all feeling. So when your head aches, it may be a result of any one of the numerous bodily disorders. It may be from an upset stomach or bad eyes or nervous strain. Whatever is the real cause, you may be sure that no one but a good doctor can tell. Headache-cures only temporarily ease the pain.

When your head aches, have a doctor give you a thorough examination. It's a protective safeguard against all possibilities. And of course you'll want the doctor's prescription compounded perfectly. So bring your drug needs to this efficient pharmacy.

Fire Destroys Home Near Jerseyville

Spark from Chimney May Have Caused Blaze on Paul Kokos Farm

Jerseyville. — Fire destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kokos several miles east of Delhi late Monday evening. The residence and its contents, including the clothing of members of the family, were destroyed. The origin of the blaze has not been definitely established, but is thought to have originated when a spark from the chimney alighted on the shingle roof and was fanned into a blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Kokos were seated in the living room of the place. She was sewing and he was reading, while one of their children played about the room.

Shouting of neighbors outside the house attracted their attention and they rushed outside to find the room and upper story a seething mass of flames.

So rapidly did the blaze spread that it was impossible to reenter the place and recover any of the furniture or clothing. The loss was covered by insurance.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss June Erwin and Leslie Payerabend of Jerseyville which took place Saturday, in Collinsville.

I. S. D. And Winchester Take Close Battles; Waverly Tamps Modesto In District Games

Scores Last Night
I. S. D., 30; Chapin, 26.
Winchester, 28; Scottville, 21.
Waverly, 53; Modesto, 17.
Games Tonight
6:30 P. M.—I. S. D. vs. Winchester.
7:45 P. M.—Virginia vs. Franklin.
9:00 P. M.—Bluffs vs. Pleasant Plains.

Winchester-Illinois School for the Deaf, back to the basketball wars after a rest since the first of the year, snatched a victory from Chapin in the last four minutes of play in the opening game of the Winchester district tournament here Wednesday night, and then Winchester came through in the last two minutes of play to knock Scottville off. Waverly was the only team to come through without much danger, thoroughly trouncing Modesto in the fastest game on the card.

Three more games will go on Thursday night, and the three winners will advance to the semi-final round, where Waverly bounced as the result of its top-heavy victory over Modesto, its third this season. Winchester and I. S. D. will meet in the first game of the evening, Franklin's Flashers, one of the tournament favorites, meets Virginia, and Bluffs, another tournament favorite, clashes with Pleasant Plains, a team which may prove to be the darkhorse of the meet.

A wide open tournament is the prospect, with hope slated to go haywire several times before it is all over. The winner and the runner-up qualify for the Jacksonville regional to be held at the I. S. D. gymnasium next week.

Tigers Start Slowly
I. S. D. plainly showing the effects of its long lay-off, got away to a slow start, Chapin taking a 7 to 4 lead in the first quarter. The Tiger "X" defense was no puzzle to the Chapin quintet, but the Tiger slowness to get into a new position kept the Chapin attack from swinging in to full speed. At the half, Chapin still held a margin, 11 to 9, as the Tigers began to get the feel of things again.

Coming back for the second half more certain of themselves, I. S. D. cracked in more points to nose out into the lead, 18 to 17. The score was tied twice during the last period, the Tigers finally breaking it and going out in front four points in the last four minutes.

Winchester escaped an early death due to a rally in the last two minutes. Scottville's basket pitching Bliger kept the Wildcats in hot water through three quarters, and then went out of the game on fouls, with about a minute to go. Johnny Quinn, who has been out of the line-up for two weeks, came back in to sink two timely baskets, one of them breaking a tie score with about two minutes to go, and the next one coming a few seconds later to give the Wildcats a four point lead.

Hazlet kept the Wildcats in the game, losing in 14 points while the rest of his mates were missing badly. Scottville led at the halfway mark, trailed at the end of the third quarter by four points, and then came up to tie the count in the final period.

"COUNT US IN" Coach Frank Walker told Coach Orville Krughoff here the other night when they discussed plans for the English style track and field meet Carrollton is going to sponsor this spring. In the mail came a request from Krughoff for last spring's Greene county track and field records. "Spring can't be far away—but BACKWARD basketball has a momentary introduction to J.H.S. fans the other night when Carlinville played here. The two centers lined up wrong for the tip-off, and caused the J.H.S. players to work the ball swiftly toward the wrong hoop. Charles Ketter cast one shot at the wrong basket, but the ball didn't go in. It just bumped once on the rim and then fell on the outside.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE baseball players have been working out for two weeks or more in the gymnasium, getting ready for their southern trip the latter part of March. Nusspickel hopes to have his pitchers in first class condition when the team sets out for the southland.

ABEL HANSON, Carrollton school superintendent, will be in charge of the team when it goes to White Hall Friday night. Coach Krughoff will be whistling with Russell Shields at the Farmersville district tournament. White Hall and Murrayville are going to quit dodging each other over that return game at White Hall and play it Saturday night. Murrayville went down to White Hall to play the night the Maroons came up here to play Routt, and White Hall expected them the following Tuesday night, but White Hall was unable to fill that date.

FREDDIE STANTON, former Illinois college football and basketball player, couldn't bring his Springfield Junior college team here for a curtain raiser with the Blueboy yearlings last night because the Springfield lads were entered in the state junior college tournament being held in LaGrange this week-end. Van Meter had not been advised of the change in the Springfield plans until he returned from Principia early Wednesday morning.

THANK YOU
I sincerely appreciate the vote given me in the 4th ward Tuesday.
E. R. FRANKLIN.

Redmen Pull Up To Within One Point But Blueboys Get Control; Three Seniors Finish

Staving off a last half Carthage drive, Illinois college played one of the best games of the season last night to defeat the Red Devils who had first knocked them from the win column early in the season. The I.C. revenge was by the score of 44-40, with Virgil Fletcher, playing without his brother, totaling eighteen of the points. Cecil was unable to enter the game because of illness, and Louie Laster got up from a bed to start his last game for Illinois college.

The Blueboys had the game pretty well under control after the first few minutes of play, when Fletcher broke the ice and drove in for a lay-in shot. Scheffler followed with a field goal. Carthage took control at this point and Mason sank two to tie the score. The lucky Red center, Hanson, followed with another from the field and Mason made the score 8-4 for Carthage as I.C. took time out.

Fletcher sank a charity shot but Hanson put Carthage further in the lead with another field goal. Laster entered the scoring column at this point with a rebound shot and Scheffler put the locals within two points of Carthage with a free shot. Shelton retaliated with another from the field and Scott whipped one in to make the count 12-10. Fletcher drove in to tie the score and was fouled, sinking the Gulander to place I.C. again in the lead 13-12.

Blueboys Lead at Half
Hall brought Carthage's end of the see-saw up with a field goal and Hanson made it stick with a free shot. Scheffler got the tip and drove across the court with a left handed effort to tie the score at 15. Mason took the next and was followed by Scott, who rolled the ball around the hoop three times before it dropped through. With five minutes left in the half the Blueboys took control again and sank three field goals and two free shots to place I.C. ahead at the half 25-17. May replaced Laster with four minutes left in the half.

Laster returned to the lineup as the second period got underway. Fletcher, Watts and Scheffler for Illinois and Schwarzer and Hanson for Carthage took turns in see-sawing the score up to 37-28 in favor of Illinois with eight minutes left in the game. With five minutes left in the half the Blueboys took control again and sank three field goals and two free shots to place I.C. ahead at the half 25-17. May replaced Laster with four minutes left in the half.

Jacksonville Savings & Loan Association, in Cooperation With Federal Government, is Prepared to Aid You Now; Highlights on Local Company

Every normal person has a desire for a home. Most married couples want homes of their own. But those who wait until they have accumulated enough cash to pay for a home in a lump sum must wait so many years that they are too old to enjoy their new possession. Few there are who can buy a home for cash.

But fortunately there are means of financing home payments in such a way that home owners can enjoy their homes while they are buying them, and with the assurance that in a few years the property, clear of debt, will be theirs. The Jacksonville Savings and Loan Association is in position to provide such home financing and is doing so for hundreds of local residents.

In fact during its history in Jacksonville the association has made about 700 loans to home owners. At the same time it has provided a means of saving money at a profit to the savers. It has encouraged thrift. No better example of what it has done can be found anywhere than the fact that nine young men here have received checks for matured stock, on which they began paying as boys eleven years ago.

At that time the members of the local Kiwanis club started 32 boys with saving accounts in the association, encouraging them to keep up the payments. Nine of these boys continued to pay until they matured the stock this January. One young man, happens to be a young man, happened on receiving his check, reinvested it in paid up shares, and began a second account to mature more stock. The lesson in thrift these boys have learned is of inestimable value.

During the past year the association made 82 loans for a total of $160,000. Of this number, 29 were for new home construction in Jacksonville and averaged $1,400 per loan. There were 35 loans for refinancing, averaging $2,200 each, and 17 loans for the purchase of new homes, with an average of $2,400 each.

This year the association is prepared to loan $200,000 on Jacksonville property, for new construction and purchase of new homes. This will be done with the co-operation of the federal government. The association is now in position to make Federal Housing loans, as well as loans made with the association charges the borrower a net interest rate of 5.8%, and is liquidated by monthly payments over a period of years, the length of time depending on the type of shares the borrower wants to purchase and the amount of payment he wishes to make each month.

The association has the backing of the Federal Home Loan bank. It has various types of stock for the investor, whose money aids the home borrower, while it provides him with a good profit on his shares. The principal objects is of moderate means that he can have a home of his own.

For a small additional payment per month, extending for but two years of the loan period, the borrower may insure his loan so that, if anything happens to him, the loan will be paid up and the home will be left, clear of debt to his wife and family.

Construction Basic Factor When Considering Purchase of Home

In buying or building a house the construction is most important. A poorly built house is a bad investment and constantly mounting item of expense. Sound materials, appropriate to the climate in which the house is built and for the uses to which they will be put are an essential requisite in any house. Decorations can be re-vised and superficial changes or additions can be made with comparative ease and economy, but to correct a basic fault in the structure of a house will cost far in excess of what it would have cost had it been properly done at the time of construction. It would be much better to cut down the size of the house—leave off a room or omit a porch—than to cheapen the construction.

The building of a house is almost always a compromise between what an owner wants and what he can pay for. He must bear in mind the three factors in building—size, cost, and quality. If the size of his house and the amount he can spend are definitely determined, then he must accept such quality as can be had under those limitations. If, on the other hand, quality is the main essential, then either size must be adjusted or he must raise his appropriation. It is seldom possible to get all we want of the quality we desire for the amount we can spend.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I have had trouble with the downspouts on my house freezing and bursting. Can you tell me how to prevent it?

A. The trouble is they become clogged and the water stays in them. This is either caused by leaves and twigs or other dirt collecting in them, or the drainage is not good. If they drain into a dry well, perhaps this is so close to the surface that it cannot absorb water which freezes. Keep the downspouts clean and provide adequate drainage and they will not freeze.

Q. Is it really cheaper, as they say, to build in winter?

A. Generally speaking, yes. There is less volume of trade, hence prices are apt to be lower. Men need work more and there is a more plentiful supply of labor. They work better because the snappy air is more conducive to work. Contractors are eager for work to carry them over the usually dull season and look for less profit. These factors usually more than counteract the slight additional cost caused by having to take extra precautions in the work.

Q. I have been advised to line my clothes closet where I store the winter clothes in Summer and Summer clothes in Winter with cedar to make it moth-proof. Will it really do it?

A. It will help, but it is doubtful if it will be 100 per cent moth-proof. Some other means in direct contact with the clothes should be used in addition to the cedar lining for full protection.

Q. What do you think of using a wallboard for an interior wall finish?

A. That depends upon the type of finish you want. Wallboards make excellent walls; the only possible objection to them is the fact that they have joints which must be taken care of in some way. Many ingenious devices for covering these joints are used.

LOW-COST HOME BUILT BY LUMBER COMPANY

Albany, N. Y.—A model home built by the E. M. Cameron Lumber Corporation has been thrown open to the public to prove what can be obtained in low-priced houses. The house was constructed to meet the requirements of the Federal Housing Administration and will sell for $2,500, with monthly payments of $17.35 exclusive of taxes. It is built along Cape Cod lines and is planned for a moderate-sized family.

CLOSET SPACE

It is frequently necessary to thicken one wall of a bathroom in order to provide room for the installation of a large soil pipe. In such cases a closet can be included in this space deep enough to hold small bathroom linen.

Finished Floors Set Characters Of Interiors

The finished floors of a house are most important to its general appearance and therefore should be given serious consideration. There are many materials from which to choose, and each has its virtues. The difficult thing is to be sure the finished selection is appropriate not only to the use of the room in which it is to be put also to the cost of the balance of the finish of the room. Obviously an expensive, random width, plank flooring would be out of place in a simple room of an inexpensive house, and a flat-grained narrow flooring of cheap wood would spoil a handsomely paneled and elaborately furnished room. Consistency in selecting the materials to be used is essential to a properly balanced house.

Many materials are being used now in countless ways for flooring; linoleum, once confined to the kitchen, has made its bow as a floor covering in the living rooms and bedrooms of well-appointed houses; composition materials of various types in the form of tiles also are used; even brick has made its way into the halls and living rooms of houses with success. But all the materials, both the new as well as the more conventional ones, must be used with judgment and a sense of their fitness for each particular room.

PAINTED CABINETS

Attractive effects can be obtained by painting the inside of cabinets or niches a contrasting color. Chinese red, ultramarine, pale green, terra cotta, almost any color can be used that will harmonize with the rest of the decorative scheme.

Old-Fashioned Buildings Lack Rental Value

Commercial buildings, particularly retail stores, have low rental value if the walls and ceilings are faulty or obsolete. They detract greatly from the appearance of the establishment and are not conducive to a pleasant environment.

The postponement of their repair means eventual heavy expense. There are many attractive coverings available on the market which may be effectively applied at small expense. Linoleum, made for that purpose, may be used for the walls and requires little maintenance. Various types of composition wall-board are excellent both for ceilings and walls. This board is available in colors and tints and may be applied as paneling or in suitable designs and patterns.

Modernization credit is advanced by private financial institutions insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

JACKETS AVAILABLE FOR RANGE BOILERS

Tailor-made insulating jackets are now available for the common range boiler and at reasonable prices. Engineers conservatively estimate that they will save their cost in less than a year and will, of course, retain the heat in the water for long periods. In addition, a word may be said for the improved appearance of the jacketed range boiler.

COUNTRY NEEDS 1,000,000 HOMES

Washington, D. C.—The Brookings Institution Study from Rentals and Value of Owned Homes as given in the 1930 Census Reports shows that 1,000,000 homes are needed in this country for families with an annual income of from $1,000 to $2,500.

The authenticity of this statement is shown by the fact that when 60 low-cost homes were recently under construction in the state of Washington, 450 applications were received from people who wished to live in these houses.

Begin Big Drive To Restore Ducks

American and Canadian Business Men Unite in Effort To Restore Lands

New York.—American sportsmen are going into Canada to help preserve the sport of duck hunting, threatened by the incursions of "civilization" and drought on the continent's greatest duck-breeding areas.

Wildfowling in sixteen states already have organized state committees to carry on the "Ducks Unlimited" program and additional committees are in process of organization in a dozen more, according to the More Game Birds Foundation.

The "Ducks Unlimited" program proposes the restoration and preservation of the last remaining, most important duck breeding grounds in Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba—from whence come the bulk of the wild ducks hunted throughout the United States. A non-profit corporation has been chartered for the purpose at Washington and Ottawa.

It is proposed to raise several hundred thousand dollars annually among wildfowling during the next five years. The money is to be used in setting aside and placing under supervision possibly a million acres of waterfowl refuges.

Provincial authorities have offered full cooperation, according to the Foundation which has underwritten organization expenses of the movement. Four outstanding Canadian businessmen and sportsmen have accepted membership on the non-profit board of directors, which will also include four representative Americans.

"Until the duck-producing capacity of the settled portion of the Canadian prairie region is vastly and permanently improved, no marked, dependable increase in the duck supply can be expected," the Foundation predicts following a comprehensive survey.

The settled portion of the prairie region which lies in the United States and in the southern parts of the three prairie provinces, has virtually lost its importance as the once great duck-producing territory.

"Millions of dollars of federal government relief funds are being spent to restore water—and with it, wildfowl—in the north-central states. Canada is planning similar water conservation work through its Prairie Farms Rehabilitation Act. Through "Ducks Unlimited" many of these Canadian projects can serve the cause of waterfowl restoration as well.

"It is in the northern part of the three Canadian provinces, however, that the preservation of America's choicest sporting ducks rests. Here nest more than three-quarters of the total duck population of the entire prairie breeding region.

"In northern Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, practically all of the territory is unclaimed provincial lands. Supervision of these unspoiled breeding grounds is the prime essential and provincial officials are ready to cooperate on this in reciprocation of the interest shown by American sportsmen in the restoration of wildfowl," the Foundation declares.

The four Canadian directors who have volunteered their services on the government board of "Ducks Unlimited" are: O. Leigh Spencer, vice-president and managing director, Calgary (Alberta) Herald; Honorable W. G. Ross, K. C., legislative assembly, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan; James A. Richardson, president, James A. Richardson & Sons, Ltd., Winnipeg, Manitoba, and S. S. Holden, president, S. S. Holden, Ltd., Ottawa, Ontario.

Among the state committees and representative American sportsmen heading them are:

Alabama, Sidney W. Smyer, Birmingham; California, John B. Coleman, San Francisco; southern California, Marshall S. Neal, Pasadena; Connecticut, Philip C. Barney, Hartford; Florida, William Leedy, Orlando; Illinois, William M. Duncan, Alton; northern Illinois, Dexter Cummings, Chicago; Kansas, George Long, Kansas City; Maryland, Dr. William A. Fisher, Baltimore; Massachusetts, Bartol Parker, Boston; Minnesota, George P. Harsh, Minneapolis; Missouri, Birch O. Mahaffey, St. Louis; New Hampshire, ex-Senator Ralph George, Concord; Oregon, J. W. Morris, Portland; Rhode Island, Harry P. Cross, Providence; Vermont, William R. McPeeters, St. Albans; Wisconsin, Harold W. Story, Milwaukee.

"Scandalous Words" In Estate Report Cause Damage Suit

Homer Seymour Names Lewis Roberts as Defendant in Case Here

"False and scandalous words" included in a report of Lewis Roberts, conservator of the estate of John Brud Seymour filed in a court here, yesterday led Homer Seymour, a tenant farmer, to bring suit in circuit court for $2,000, alleging damages as the result of the report.

The plaintiff, in his suit, states that he has a good record as a farmer and has enjoyed a good reputation for his business dealings and that as a result of the report made by the conservator, in which the conservator stated "no rental received by ward for several years" for property which Homer Seymour has occupied, has caused the plaintiff considerable difficulty.

The complainant informed the court that the publishing in the report by the conservator of the claim that Seymour had not paid rent for several years had resulted in loss of sleep, inability to procure a place in which to carry on his business of farming, and had hindered his efforts to provide a place where he could care for his family in the vicinity.

The complainant also stated that he has been caused considerable embarrassment because his neighbors have repeated the claim made by the conservator that no rents had been paid.

After, of Waverly, drew up the complaint, in which the plaintiff states that he has occupied the farm owned by John Brud Seymour for the past five years.

CHECKER TOURNAMENT AT WAVERLY MONDAY

The final battle of the little journey was won by Charles Allen, manager of the Star store, by defeating Herbert Campbell of the Campbell's Restaurant. These two men will represent Waverly in the county tournament to be played here. Other players taking part in the play were Crill Bridges, Kenneth Kepling, Morgan Ryan, Kenneth Cowman, Forrest Woods, Neal Tash and William Watkins.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

By Dennis Wheatley
© 1937, NEA Service, Inc.
William Morrow & Co.

IN closing this report I now have to confess myself completely at a loss.

The following is an analysis of what occurred according to my latest information.

MRS. JOCELYN. Could not have done it, because she was with "Slick" Daniels, alias Count Posodini, from 7:45 till 8:10 in his cabin, and from 8:10 till 8:30 she was with her husband, changing.

COUNT POSODINI, alias "Slick" Daniels. Could not have done it, because he was in his cabin with Mrs. Jocelyn from 7:45 till 8:10, and from that time until 8:25, when he appeared in the lounge, he would have been occupied in changing.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE. Could not have done it, because from 8:10 when he came down to his cabin, until he went up changed at 8:35, Dr. Ackland was with him and vouches for his presence there.

THE BISHOP OF BUDE. Could not have done it, because from 7:15 until 8:0 the ship's carpenter was doing a job of work outside his cabin and vouches for the fact that he never left it during the whole of that time.

LADY WELTER. Could not have done it, because her maid, Mildred Short, was with her, in her cabin from 7:05 until 7:35, and from 7:35 till 8:05 she is proved to have been knitting the last sleeve of a jumper, which would have occupied her the whole of that time, until she went up to the lounge.

MR. HAYASHI. Could not have done it, because, when he rang his bell at 7:50, the steward found him in his cabin still unchanged, and he was still unchanged when the steward returned at 7:55, with the notepaper. Eight out of the following 20 minutes he was occupied in writing a letter and the balance in changing to arrive in the lounge at 8:15.

MR. JOCELYN. Could not have done it, because from 7:15, when he went below, he was with Miss Ferri Rocksavage in her cabin, until 8:10, and from that time until 8:30 he was with his wife changing.

MISS ROCKSAVAGE. Could not have done it, because from 7:15 she was with Jocelyn in her cabin until 8:10, and from thence onwards she was occupied with changing in the presence of her maid, Nellie Orde.

It seems to me, therefore, that all the parties under suspicion have incontestable alibis, and as we know that Stodart was in the company of various persons in the lounge from 7:30 until 8:33 he could not possibly have committed this murder either. Moreover it could not, on the evidence shown, have been any member of the crew. This leaves me at a completely dead end, and I am now awaiting further instructions.

KEYS KETTERING.

Detective Officer,
Florida Police
4:55 p. m. 9-1-37, on S. Y. Golden Gull.

POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

Miami, Fla.

MEMO

To Detective Officer Kettering:
Solution of murder perfectly clear on evidence submitted.

Arrest Bolitho Blane, now posing as his secretary, for the murder of Nicholas Stodart.
JOHN MILTON SCHWAB,
Lieutenant Florida Police.

LIEUTENANT SCHWAB'S ANAL- YSIS OF THE FOREGOING EVIDENCE.

THE time of the murder was set between 7:45 and 8:30, owing to a message, supposedly in the victim's handwriting, appearing on a leaf torn from Stodart's diary, which was not in existence until 7:40.

Compare the share quotations supposedly written by Stodart, however, with other examples of handwriting known to have been written by Blane. The word "Rocksavage" in the share list also occurs twice in Blane's letter to Stodart and twice in his letter to the Bishop. The similarity of the first to the other four immediately springs to the eye, only the "g" and the "r" differing to any extent. Other similarities appear on closer inspection and there can be no doubt that all three documents were written by the same person.

Not the victim, but the writer of the share quotations therefore wrote the alleged last message, so that there is no evidence as to when the murder was committed. The alibi of the man presumed to be Stodart begins only at 7:25 when he entered the lounge. If the crime was committed before that his alibi falls to the ground.

Examination of the evidence brings other points to light showing that the man known as Stodart throughout the investigation is in reality Bolitho Blane. These are as follows:

First—Photograph D of Blane's bathroom shows a safety razor on the washstand, whereas photograph E of Stodart's cabin shows a cut-throat razor on the washstand. The photograph presumed to be of Stodart, flashed by Detective Officer Neame on the morning after the crime, shows a razor cut on the man's face. It is obvious that he had always been used to shaving with a safety razor but, as suite C was locked up after the murder, he could not get at this, and had to do the best he could to shave himself with the cut-throat razor that was in Stodart's cabin.

Second—On examination of the photograph presumed to be of Stodart, it is apparent that the coat he is wearing is too big for him, as the sleeve is overlong, and the garment must have been built for a slightly taller man. It is obvious that Blane, having changed identities with his secretary, had to wear his secretary's clothes, which did not quite fit him.

THIRD—It will be recalled that on the night of the 8th, when the man presumed to be Stodart dined with Kettering, he complained of an abscess which was causing him trouble with his false teeth and, as the upper set were slipping badly, he was unable to eat any solids. An examination of photograph D of Blane's bathroom, shows a tooth brush and a plate brush, the latter being an indication that Blane had false teeth, whereas in photograph E of Stodart's cabin there is on the wash basin an ordinary tooth brush only.

Further, in the inventory of Blane's belongings there appears a bottle of Gum Tragacanth powder, which is used for sprinkling upon dentures in order to keep these in position in the mouth. As suite C was locked after the crime, Blane was no longer able to get at this powder, hence his difficulty in keeping his false teeth in place on the following night.

Fourth—It will be recalled that, at the end of his first examination, on the morning after the crime, the Bishop of Bude faints. At that time it was assumed, upon the Bishop's word, that his faint was caused by a weak heart and the fact that he had had no breakfast.

It is clear, however, that the true reason was the shock he sustained upon the man, presumed to be Stodart, coming into the cabin. As the Bishop had not breakfasted that morning after the crime, the Bishop of Bude fainted. At that time it was assumed, upon the Bishop's word, that his faint was caused by a weak heart and the fact that he had had no breakfast.

Blane's confession on his arrest confirms the above deductions.
JOHN MILTON SCHWAB,
Lieutenant Florida Police.

CONFESSION OF BOLITHO BLANE.

YES, all right then, I killed him. Little scoundrel, what use was he, anyway?

I've known since last December that I might have to get out any minute. In fact, I suppose I've realized it might have to come sometime ever since I started business.

All I wanted was peace, and I knew if I could find someone to step into my shoes and leave me his to step into I could have it. I started looking in January for someone whom my shoes would fit. It was only a question of patience. Someone of the right height, build, age and with no friends would turn up.

Stodart turned up in Ipswich about the fifth place I had spent a week in, advertising and interviewing applicants. He was ideal, no friends, no family—just the sort of man I wanted to become myself, so I decided to let him do the first big thing he'd ever done—go out with a bang.

When Rocksavage asked me to his conference I thought there was a faint possibility of pulling things together, and Stodart could have gone back to his clerking. By the time we got to New York, though, I knew my position was hopeless and I decided to put Stodart through the hoop.

I had a nasty shock in New York when I learned the Bishop of Bude was to be on board. Very few people know me by sight and it was rotten luck that one of them should chance to be among this party. Fortunately, however, I knew more about him than he did about me—a nasty business during the war which everyone's forgotten now and which they weren't reminded, so I wrote him a little warning that there was real trouble coming to him unless he kept his mouth shut.

I DON'T suppose you want to know how it was all done. I got some closing prices from New York by long distance before coming on board and wrote them in a disguised handwriting I had been practicing a long time on a page of my diary. I wrote a message to Stodart in my own writing on the other side, and put it in my pocket.

As soon as we were on board I gave Stodart some work to do in our drawing room and went to see the Bishop. I found my note had had the desired effect.

Then I went back to the drawing room and gave Stodart a little knock on the back of the head with a hammer I had with me for the job. He was sitting at the small round table, so I moved the writing table away from the window and dragged him across to it and popped him out. It was quite dark by then so no one could see from the deck. Then I threw the hammer and the gloves I wore while I was arranging the room to join him. I found I'd cracked his silly thin skull, so I had to sponge out a spot of blood on the carpet before I changed into evening dress in his room.

I GOT up to the lounge at half-past seven and introduced myself as Stodart and after a while wrote the closing prices in my diary again in front of everyone, and in the same kind of handwriting. I told the steward to push it under the door of the cabin and stayed in the lounge until the bugle sounded for dinner.

After that everything went according to plan. At 8:30 the Steward came up with the note I had left addressed to Stodart and I hurried down with him to the cabin. While he was in the bathroom I exchanged the note I had kept in my pocket with the one that had been pushed under the door. That proved the missing party was alive at 7:45, and you see although I'd worked this thing out pretty carefully, the difference between doing a thing just well and doing it properly is to make allowances for the unexpected. I didn't see why the suicide story shouldn't be accepted.

You know, it's almost worth it to have seen the Bishop's face when he saw me the next morning and realized I hadn't committed suicide. After thinking he was rid of me he must have realized what I had done. That's why he fainted.

Well, that's all, and since it hasn't come off I want to see it finished with as little delay and formality as possible.

Truck Driver Has Narrow Escape in Wednesday Mishap

Motor Vehicle Collides With Machine Driven by His Brother

Virgil Cook, truck driver, miraculously escaped injury Wednesday about 1 p. m. when the truck he was driving collided with the rear end of a tractor-trailer driven by his brother Thomas Cook, near the entrance to the Jacksonville Country Club on Route 36 east of the city.

The Cook brothers were hauling shells corn to the Clarence, Missouri Rolling Mills, when Thomas, who was driving ahead of his brother, noticed a sign placed by state highway maintenance men cautioning motorists to drive slowly.

Thomas slowed down his tractor-trailer, but his brother was unable to halt his truck.

Virgil's truck crashed into the rear of the trailer, folding the hood back against the windshield and breaking it out. The force of the collision was such that the load of corn caused the chassis of the truck to buckle, forcing the rear cushion of the driver's seat to within a foot of the steering wheel. Virgil climbed out from behind the wheel of his truck without as much as a scratch. The truck cab was badly damaged and the chassis was bent in such a manner that it almost touched the ground between the front and back wheels.
